South Bay Shouting Match

...Outside Company to Run City's Utilities

A shouting match between South Bay City Commissioners and Ed Balmer, the City's water and sewer treatment plant operator, ended with the city hiring a Louisiana firm to maintain the city's utilities.

The commission meeting began with Mayor Vernita Cox outlining problems at the water plant and ended with Balmer calling Commissioner Neal Mayo a liar for saying Balmer had been seen drinking beer on the Hoover dam.

In between, accusations were hurled back and forth concerning the cleanliness of the water plant, Balmer's work habits and promises for raises in pay.

But when it was all over, Mrs. Cox and Commissioner John Daston made it unanimous when Mayo moved to employ Utility Carriers of Louisiana to maintain and operate the city's utilities plants for a fee of $2,900 per month.

The company, owned by J. W. Middleton Jr., was to assume responsibility for the water and sewer systems Wednesday morning, supplying two men who will be on the job one of which will be on the job seven days a week.

Mrs. Walker said later Balmer and his two assistants who have been working at the water sewer plants have been earning a total of $1,900 per month in salaries alone.

Balmer said he was not going to resign, that, "before I leave here, I'm going to fight this. I'm on civil service and you're going to have to prove these things, not just sit there and say this and say that."

When the decision was made to go ahead and engage Utility Carriers, Balmer asked, "What about me," and Daston said he thought Balmer had already answered that.

"You said twice you were going to quit if you didn't get a raise," Daston said.

Mayor Cox said the matter came to a head recently when Balmer went on vacation for two weeks, leaving his two assistants and an agreement with an operator at the sewer plant to perform tasks.

Shortly after Balmer left, one of his assistants became ill and couldn't work and Mrs. Cox said the Belle Glade man never performed the tests as she called in Middleton on a temporary basis.

During Balmer's arguments, he said the state law requires, and brought out a paper indicating, the city will need a certified class "C" operator at the sewer plant at least eight hours a day.

Answering charges he was never available at the water plant, Balmer said he, "was probably at the sewer plant or working on the sewer system," saying this has been taking most of his time.

When Mrs. Cox said the sewer system has been having a number of problems, Balmer brought in a snarled length of stainless steel coils, saying he had fished it out of the sewer plant and that it had had to go through two muters.

Commissioners said several times the water plant was "filthy" and Balmer agreed, but said he had been told when he was hired the city would take care of cleaning the plant.

"I'm not a janitor," he said, "and I'm not going to clean it up."

Balmer maintained repeatedly he had supplied high quality water as long as he was in charge of the plant but Mayo said, "It's a shame people of this town have to pay as much as they do for water and if they went out and saw the plant, they wouldn't want to drink the water."

"You're complaining about cobwebs," Balmer said, "and the cobwebs are all that's holding the place together."

In his turn, Balmer said he could never get, "my own commissioner out to the plant," but Mayo, the commissioner in charge of the water plant, said he had been out to the plant several times but could never find Balmer.

When he asked if he would be required to move his mobile home from city property immediately, Balmer was told by Daston he would be allowed time but didn't specify how long.

In other business, the commission: Agreed to study a resolution proposed by the Palm Beach County Area Planning Board concerning an area waste water plant.

Heard a presentation by Ag Air owner Howard Barker on aerial spraying of mosquitoes. Mrs. Cox said the commission will put the cost up for those and get back to him with him.

Heard several complaints by Wilbur Finley of 455 N. W. Fourth St. Finley said commissioners he would repair potholes in the street in front of his home if the city would pay for the materials but commissioners were non-committal.

Finley also complained about seeing city employees working on city time and using city equipment in private yards and heavy truck traffic on residential streets.

He was told the city has an ordinance allowing the city to perform chores for residents, charging them fees and he was asked to report truck traffic to police, that there is an ordinance prohibiting heavy trucks from using residential streets for throughfares.

No Stick in the Mud-She

Little Terry Mole is having her own kind of "ball" while moms are out in the field pitching for Wallis Pharmacy's women's softball team. The ladies league got off to a muddy start Monday, but despite the rain the play was vigorous and the score many. For all the scores and action, plus some more pictures of girls playing in the mud turn to The Herald's sports section, 2B.

2,000 Enter Disney World Contest First Week

Pretty Georgina Bueno gets the more than 2,000 entries in The Herald's Walt Disney World Contest dumped over her head by Herald Publisher, Glenn Lamy.

Meanwhile, over on the right Linda Parsons receives the first weekly prize from Royal's Manager, Ed Hollomon. Linda's name was drawn at random from the more than 2,000 entries during the first week of the contest. For her trouble in entering Linda won a hair dryer. And she has a chance to win for her and her family a free trip to Walt Disney World valued at over $450.

You too could win a weekly prize from one of the eight sponsoring merchants. And who knows, you too could win that free trip for you and your family to Walt Disney World. All you have to do is go to any or all of the eight merchants and register. It's as simple as that.

Entries are limited to one per person per day in each of the eight participating merchants. The merchants in the contest are: Granita, White's Auto, Lake Hardware, Royals, Western Auto, Hollingsworth's, Shoes, This N That and Glades Gas.

'Past 4 Years Were Tough'

(Ed. Note: The following story is written by Ms. Cartheda Taylor, a graduate of Pied University in English, Ma. Taylor, daughter of W. C. Taylor of Belle Glade, will attend Columbia Graduate School this fall. She is going to spend the summer visiting her mother in Belle Glade.)

By CARTHEDA TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

It's been a tough four years for Cartheda McCurdy. Passed over twice during those four years for principal of Glades Central, McCurdy's belief he should have been given the job was finally upheld by the courts. He begins work next month.

"It's been pretty tough," says McCurdy of his months of fighting for the senior high school position. "I feel like I've never been forgiven for not being the first place, I don't expect it to be any easier now, but it hasn't thrown me."

Former principal of all-black Lake Shore High School, McCurdy was the top administrator there from 1955 through 1967. His term was affected by a mandated desegregation resulting in the merging of Lake Shore High School and Belle Glade High School. The new Glades Central High School with dual campuses.

Under the dual campuses system, McCurdy was campus principal for the south campus, which was the old Lake Shore High School. The north campus was the former Belle Glade High School.

Prior to the beginning of the 1971-72 school term, a decision to revert to single campuses, McCurdy, whose experience as a senior high school principal preceded that of the principals selected for Glades Central High School, was then demoted to the status of a junior high school principal.

The change back to single campuses meant the south campus of Glades Central High School, under the dual campus system, became Lake Shore Junior High School. McCurdy remained principal there until his day in court. Jane Smith, who speaks a slight staccato, McCurdy talked of repeated deadlock conversations with school board officials concerning the alleged discrimination against him.

"Finally I was told by the school board personnel director to let the court settle it," he said.

McCurdy enlisted the services of an attorney in October 1970. However, it was not until January 1973 that suit was filed—two years and two attorneys later.

In the Swim

When the city commission decided Monday night to bounce the swimming pool ball back to the Belle Glade Lions Club, it did about the only reasonable thing it could.

The Lions were asking the city to voluntarily begin negotiations as the civic club could buy the lease to the swimming pool property but the commissioners decided instead that if the Lions want the pool, they'll have to legally exercise their option under the terms of the lease.

What will happen to the pool should the Lions exercise their option and buy back the land, and they do have the right to do so, is still a matter of conjecture.

But one key to the fate of the pool is obviously the question of how much it will cost to make necessary repairs and that brings up another point.

The city has had two estimates made by reputable firms who normally deal with the repair and construction of swimming pools.

Those estimates, while ranging from $30,000 to $60,000 are very close to each other according to City Manager William Malley.

The fact is, no one really knows how much it will cost, and the point came up Monday that when the commission directed Malley to have the studies made, he was to find how much it would cost to put the pool in A-1 shape, not just repair the leak in the drainage system.

This partially, but not completely, explains the difference between the two estimates commissioned by the city and the estimate Commissioner William Greer said he had made.

When Greer announced a week ago he had paid to have an estimate made, and found it would cost as little as $7,000, he didn't say, as he did Monday, the man making the estimate only does this type of work part time, nor that the man hadn't seen the inside of the pool itself.

At any rate, Greer said he has since found the man can't do the work anyway, since he is too tied up with his own business.

It's still a good bet the repairs and improvements, even if everything recommended in the original studies is done, can be made cheaper than the original estimate.

One method is on exhibit right now at the city jail, where Police Chief Charles Goodlett is using city labor to build a second floor to the building for $12,500 when contract price would have run upwards of $30,000.

That same method could be used with the swimming pool, we would think, assuming the city can keep it, at a considerable savings and this avenue should be explored.

Every little bit helps.

Well, Ma, There's News and Then There's News

Sometimes I believe Will Rogers was right.

Open a newspaper...any newspaper, or listen to the news on radio or on TV and you've got some of the best entertainment money can buy.

Some thing holds true if you happen to be in the news business and news releases come across your desk.

Take Little One, for instance...please.

Little One is a toy poodle who made the news the other day when her owner used a professional animal groomer. She (the owner) claimed that dastardly groomer had actually cut Little One and wanted $10,000 in damages.

Seems the accidental cut, if it took place, had made the pooch psychotic. She doesn't like people anymore.

I don't know about you, but I'm not so sure that isn't a sure sign of sanity.

Curse, I haven't been too sure about psychologists either since one told me I must be mentally unbalanced because I'd reached the ripe old age of 27 and hadn't settled down into marital bliss.

I'd gotten used to my mother sounding off occasionally about the situation but when some grown man expresses concern about my marital status, I can't help thinking he's a little equally too.

If you're gonna give advice to other people, seem to me you oughta get your own mind right first.

Hidin' the animal theme a little further, I just read this week about how the U. S. Gov't's gonna solve the problem of tuna fishermen killing porpoises (You can call 'em dolphins if you want to but you sin't gonna mess my mind up.)

In case you haven't been keeping up with the slaughter, the conservationists prevailed on the feds to investigate the matter and the federal government gave the tuna fishermen two years to come up with some way of feeding the world without murdering mammals.

Well, the two years are up, and since the fishermen couldn't, or at least didn't, come up with a solution, the gov't mind it.

They're gonna start issuing licenses to kill any porpoise who happens to get caught in their nets. And so they don't put a hurtin' on the fisherman's pocketbook, the permit is only gonna cost five bucks.

That's $250 less than a Florida fishing license will cost you.

This is a humane law, though. The permit doesn't allow you to eat porpoise, just kill them and leave their carcasses to the sharks. Wasteful but humane.

I guess everybody's got to do their own thing but for my own self, I'd find more than a little hard to shoot something with a permanent grin on its face. That'd be the killing flipper.

And then you've got gastankins from Haiti, better be careful. They may be infected with anthrax. That's the word

TAKE THIS ENERGY TEST

HOW MUCH ENERGY IS USED BY SMALL APPLIANCES?

On an average, how much of your monthly electric bill goes for normal operation of these four household appliances?

Portable mixer...cents
 Electric sliding knife...cents
 Can opener/crusher...cents
 Heated shoe creamer...cents

1. Your electric clock runs 24 hours a day, 365 days a year for a monthly average cost of 4¢ cents. It operates for 24 hours when using a kilowatt hour.

2. A big old-fashioned Toaster Oven will toast four slices of bread a day, bake for more than two hours a week and top browns twice a week for 4 minutes each time for just about 11 cents a month.

3. In a big Dutch skillet the food is cooked in the heating vessel itself. That helps keep the cost of operation to 5¢ cents for more than 10 hours a month.

4. Have a weekly appointment twice a week in your own home with a salon style hair dryer for about a dime a month. Or blow-dry your hair with a hand held dryer. Four times a week, for 10 minutes each time, the hand held unit operates for 1¢ cents a month.

5. A cordless electric shaver may be used about 200 times a month. The cost of continuous charging is about 20¢ cents a month. It charges for 15 days on a kilowatt hour.

6. A spray iron, on normal heat settings, uses two hours a week, costs about 19¢ cents a month. You can iron for nearly 1½ hours before using a kilowatt hour.

General Electric engineers said they calculated the energy consumption of small appliances as a credit—of the amount of the appliances use. Company spokesmen stressed the fact that GE supports the wise and efficient use of money and resources. When properly used, small appliances can provide many benefits to the household, while requiring little time.

The portable appliances around your home are generally low energy users. To put the energy demands of small appliances in perspective, it's estimated that on an average they use about one half of 1% of total U.S. energy consumption.

General Electric Company engineers estimated the costs in the test above based on measurements for the products involved. Another way of expressing their findings is in terms of the work they do for one kilowatt hour.

Electric sliding knife: 215 3-minute uses
 Portable mixer: 205 3-minute uses
 Heated shoe creamer: Every morning for 3 years
 Can opener/crusher: Operates about 1,450 cents

off the record

It's been such a bad week I almost hate to write about anything! You know—of those "every day a Monday" type weeks.

Maybe it was a carry over from last week. Actually, down here at the Herald our weeks run from Wednesday to Wednesday. That's the day the paper gets out—although it almost didn't last Wednesday.

We had a machine break down on us. Since we didn't have a backup and it took us over three ours to fix it, we got to press around 630 p.m. rather than 230.

A real bad Wednesday hangs on for awhile.

Our biggest reaction to any of the stories we did last week was to the Lions wanting to take back over the pool. It was a great disappointment to me to have an elected public official claim to have paid for, out of his pocket, an engineering study and then have that "engineering study" turn out to be a big piece of guess work by a non-engineer who works on pools during the weekends and doesn't have the time to do the work even if he could for $7,000.

If you think that's an awfully long, complicated sentence you are absolutely right. But it was a long, complicated thought as well.

If an elected public official call me on the phone and says something to me. Or if he speaks to me in person, I, as a newspaper man, tend to believe him. That is, I believe him until given reason to doubt what he says.

All of us are human. All of us can be a newspaper man, tend to believe him. That is, I believe him until given reason to doubt what he says.

Justify almost any means to get to a favored end. But a public official has the responsibility of not misleading the public. When he says he's had an engineering study made—it should be just that—an engineering study.

But why best a dumb horse. The Lions have the right to take back over the property. If they exercise their option, I hope the public benefits from their take-over.

Subject closed.

Another hang over from last week—I missed my first Chamber meeting.

One more bit of bad news and then I'll close for the day. Royals is losing its plaza store manager, Ed Holman.

Ed did a real good job of opening up the new store. But he has a chance to buy his own little shoe store up north, so he is leaving sunny Florida. Best of luck Ed.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

from the U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Seems the commission is worried because a lot of gastaikin products from Haiti have turned up carrying anthrax: spores. Anthrax, in case you didn't know, is a pretty potent disease. It's not quite as bad as the black plague.

The commission appears to be worried about little a few things these days. They sent us about half a dozen news releases this week on things they deem fit to bring their hands about.

Matter of fact, they're spending so much time worrying, they're looking for help: all if you're a good worry-wart, listen up. I have to admit it's not much worrying, they're looking for a fustebudge too or not.

What they're doing is looking for volunteers to help set up safety standards on gastaikin in any given category. The commission said it will maintain a list of all persons and Robert McAninch is one of those types you can only grin your teeth at because they're doing things the average Joe Blow wouldn't even consider.

I mean this kid is only 17 years old and he's already winding up his sophomore year in college. I was 21 before I started college.

And if getting his AA degree two weeks after picking up his high school diploma isn't enough, the kid would have gotten his AA degree before he graduated from Junior high if he hadn't flunked a couple of courses.

At least, that makes him a little more human.

By the way, have you noticed Henry Kissinger's ad? He's the new guy with his comment he'd resign if anybody investigates him for wiretapping.

The national (and some local) editorial cartoonists are having a field day with that one aren't they? Personally, I think it's hilarious.

I mean, here's the old Congressional committee building over everybody up to and including the President but when they decide to tackle Super Krust, nobody seems to understand why he gets all bent out of shape when they question his integrity.

On the other hand, I don't see anyone running in to see if the Secretary of State is bluffing or not.

Makes you wonder if they really want to get rid of anyone who's really producing.

Pool Bounced Back to Lions

If the Belle Glade Lions Club is to repossess the Municipal Swimming Pool, it will have to legally exercise its option.

That was the consensus Monday night of the City Commission when it was approached the second time in a week by a delegation of Lions.

Lion President Bert Ward said the club, which first approached the city a week ago, wasn't then exercising its option but was asking the city to enter into talks leading to the Lions' recovery of the land the pool is on.

The commissioners decided, however, that if the Lions want the land back, they'll have to go through legal channels.

Ward said the delegation on hand couldn't make that decision but must go back to the club's board of directors.

City Commissioner John Grady said he would like to see the city commission another study to get a third estimate on what it would take to repair the pool but could get no support.

Commissioner Bill Bailey said he wasn't in favor of paying to have another study done when the Lions may only come back with a formal bid to exercise their option.

The Lions said the main reason they want to buy back the city's lease is because the pool has been idle for the past two years, following the discovery of a leak in the drainage system.

The city has paid to have two studies performed and estimates to put the pool back into good condition have ranged from $30,000 to $60,000, a price the commissioners say they can't afford. City Finance Director Frank Anderson said Monday the original pool cost $85,000 to build.

When the Lions first approached the commission June 10 to say they wanted to buy the lease, Commissioner William Grady said he had paid out of his own pocket to have another estimate made. He said he had been informed the pool drainage system could be repaired for between $7,000 and $2,000.

When Grady asked him if he could get that in writing, he said it seemed he could. When Grady asked Grady

Monday if his source could do the work for the $7,000 to $2,000 estimated, Grady said the man who made the estimate is in another line of business and only handles this type of repair part-time and won't have the time in the foreseeable future.

That reminds me of the guy who asked the butcher the price of his port chops," Ward said. "When he told her $1.25, she said that was too much. The butcher across the street priced his at 75 cents and the butcher across the street said, 'Well, why don't you go across the street.'"

"She told him she didn't go across the street because the butcher across the street was out of port chops," Ward said, and the butcher said, "Well, mine would cost 25 cents a pound if I didn't have any."

"The night as well say he could repair the pool for $2,000," Ward said, "but he doesn't have the time to do it."

Bailey mentioned there is one clause in the city's lease agreement on the land which could be interpreted as giving the Lions the right to take over the land without paying the city anything. The clause allows the Lions to reclaim the land by a set procedure if the city fails to maintain the buildings on the land.

"The only question," Bailey said, "is whether the pool could be interpreted as a building."

City Attorney John Baker said he wasn't sure, that the issue didn't make that point clear.

Lion member Don Fieha caused some comment when he questioned what would happen should the Lions begin exercising their option and wish to back out should the price prove too high.

Baker said there would be no problem as long as the city commission agrees to allow the Lions to back out but if the city shouldn't agree, the matter might have to go to court.

Ney to Appear

As with Ronald Reagan, Richard Ney moved from a successful movie career to "come in from the cold."

Ney, one of the nation's foremost financial experts, will speak in Palm Beach at a special event luncheon Friday, July 19, at the famous Palm Beach Club which adjoins the Palm Beach Playhouse.

It will be Ney's first appearance anywhere in the south, following publication of his book (June) "The Wall Street Gang," a scorching look to his "The Wall Street Jungle," which just four years ago was on the New York Times best-seller list for over eleven months and sold a million copies.

Frank Wright, who heads the 25-year old Public Relations and Advertising consulting firm, Frank Wright Associates, is bringing Ney to the Palm Beach luncheon, which is an invitation-only event. Information may be obtained by telephoning Frank Wright Associates, 655-5653.

Utility Lines to Go to Pave Way for SR80

The Belle Glade City Commission said Monday night the city will relocate or abandon water and sewer lines along SR80 but no one was sure where the estimated $412,300 required to do the job will come from.

Commissioners were unanimously in telling Canal Hazards Safety Committee Chairman Franklyn Jones during a work session that they would not hold up the financing of SR80.

Jones appeared before the commission to ask passage of the resolution, saying the State Department of Transportation must not only know the city will remove or abandon the water and sewer lines on the right of way where four lining projects are scheduled but must have some idea about how the city plans to go about the before contracts are let.

Jones said that if all other things go well, the contracts are scheduled to be let in October.

He told the commission one major obstacle had been removed to the project between Vinger Bend and shop and aspect session there was no question the city would do the work.

The only question was how, Commissioner Bill Bailey said, "is how we're going to pay for it."

"I'll go further," Mayor Aubrey Farmer said, "Belle Glade won't hold up the financing of SR80."

Jones appeared before the commission to ask passage of the resolution, saying the State Department of Transportation must not only know the city will remove or abandon the water and sewer lines on the right of way where four lining projects are scheduled but must have some idea about how the city plans to go about the before contracts are let.

Jones said that if all other things go well, the contracts are scheduled to be let in October.

He told the commission one major obstacle had been removed to the project between Vinger Bend and South Bay when housing was found for the last family which must be relocated.

Jones said the family had originally been scheduled to move out of its home in November but committee members Robert White and W. C. Taylor had found other housing and the move was to have been made Tuesday.

"This could mean the project could be pushed up as much as six months," Jones said outside the meeting.

"But the reason we're here," he told the commission is to make sure the DOT doesn't have any excuses. In the last six years, they've run through just about every one there. They have about two left."

"I hurt emotionally around May (1974) because I didn't think people could sit and tell lies like they did. They held back the good points. Maybe they had community pressure, but they didn't say it."

Of his plans for assuming the top position at Glades Central, he says, "I don't intend to go in and abruptly change anything. I've learned over the years to wait and see."

"I won't hold any grudges," he says and hastily adds, "But I keep my guard up."

Asked his feelings about the value of the public school system since mandatory desegregation, McCurdy replies, "The desegregation might have been necessary, we just want to know if it's working. Now about it the wrong way. Now we have people fighting each other."

"Perhaps what we should have done was make sure all schools had adequate facilities and materials."

"When I started as a principal," he reminisces, "But it's always hard to get other people to see their thing. I see some brightness on the horizon, but it's coming too slow."

"Under the old system teachers were more dedicated," he said. "Many things they would not tolerate before, they turn their heads to now. No, desegregation isn't the cause. It's the way it's administered."

His plans for the future are cloudy at this point. "I haven't given retirement much thought. But I don't intend to work as long as I'm eligible to."

'It Hurt Emotionally' McCurdy

Despite the struggle to be recognized as a capable administrator, there has been a high emotional toll paid by the 30-year-old McCurdy.

McCurdy says failure of the board to appoint him to the position initially was an error in judgment.

"There was a misjudgment on the part of the administration," he said, "that a black principal would not be acceptable here. Nothing was mentioned until recently."

"All of a sudden, after more than 20 years in the system," he said in slow, even expressions, "I'm told I'm unqualified."

In an evaluation by the Glades area superintendent in October, 1973, McCurdy was rated "better than average."

thought that was kind of low. In May (1973) my rating was below average. Even the judge noted a discrepancy there."

Support from the teachers at Lake Shore Junior School bolstered McCurdy's faith that his position was firm.

"When the teachers heard, probably from reading the newspaper, what was being said during the court hearings," he said, "they became angry. They drew up a petition and presented it in court."

Throughout the more than three years of waiting, McCurdy saw victory.

"I always felt that if I had a good attorney, I couldn't lose," he said. "There have been anxious moments—moments when I wondered if the people in the community would understand what was happening."

"But, I had nothing to lose. I felt secure in my job," he

"I hurt emotionally around May (1974) because I didn't think people could sit and tell lies like they did. They held back the good points. Maybe they had community pressure, but they didn't say it."

Despedida de Soltera

Una mañana en el cual disfrutamos, fue el ver la novia y la sorpresa en la casa de Sherry cuando abrió sus regalos. No podíamos dejar de mencionar el capitulo brillante que fue servido por esta despedida, así como la hermosa que estaba el salon social de la Iglesia Episcopal de Saint John, donde se lleva a cabo esta fiesta despedida.

De nuevo nos unimos para desear a Sherry, y a su futuro esposo el joven Hugh E. Bright toda la felicidad que ellos merecen, por ser ambos jóvenes de tanta valia y jóvenes que se ganen el cariño y el apoyo de todos por sus nobles y su educación.

Los cuernos son unidos para desear a Sherry, y a su futuro esposo el joven Hugh E. Bright toda la felicidad que ellos merecen, por ser ambos jóvenes de tanta valia y jóvenes que se ganen el cariño y el apoyo de todos por sus nobles y su educación.

City Seeks Help with Water

The Belle Glade City Commission took action Monday to begin $1.7 million worth of improvements to the city's water system with the possibility of financial help from area industries.

In an effort to help speed up the project, Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida said it would like to see the cooperative and Quaker Oats might loan the city enough to get started.

The cooperative's sugar mill and the Quaker Oats flour plant are expanding and will need much larger amounts of water of higher quality than they are now receiving.

Wedgeforth said the time and if the city can't produce large quantities of high quality water in a comparatively short period of time, the plants may have to take alternate routes which are less desirable.

The project was proposed by Bailey-Wild and Associates, the city's consulting engineers, and was reported by the Herald May 14, along with utilities hikes reported May 30. Bailey-Wild proposed in the study a new raw water intake should be constructed at the southern tip of Kracker Island, minor changes should be made at the treatment plant and a number of changes should be made in the distribution system.

The report said the sugar mill and Quaker Oats would be primary beneficiaries of the improvements and should bear part of the costs for improving the system.

Wedgeforth told the commissioners Monday night in a work shop session the two industries would not pay for capital improvements except on their own property and of the type of improvements they have helped make in the past.

But he said the industries, and he made it plain he could speak officially only for the sugar mill, the companies may be able to find some way of advancing money needed to begin the project.

He said the advance would only be a loan, however, and would be repaid by the city in the form of a credit on water to be supplied in the future.

He also said the cooperative would not agree to an especially high rate increase but said it would go along with provisions above the board rate increase to all users.

Wedgeforth had recommended in a report submitted to the city a week after the water study report the city raise its water rates and the fees normally charged to hook up both water and sewer service.

Wedgeforth disagreed with one portion of the engineers' recommendations which specified a ground storage facility should be erected either near or on the industrial complex land.

A. J. Burchall, representing Bailey-Wild, said the storage facility, along with an additional 12 inch main running parallel to the main on Airport Road, would guarantee a peak supply 3 million gallons of water per day to the complex. He said this peak could be kept up for as long as a 24 hour period and a normal supply of 2.5 million gallons per day could be given.

Wedgeforth said the mill's water requirements are more stable than residential requirements and no surge supply is needed. He said this is why the mill doesn't need the storage tank near it necessarily.

City Commissioner Bill Bailey moved, and the commission unanimously approved, to approach the city's fiscal agent to begin planning on how the city can pay for the improvements.

Included in the motion was a move to enter negotiations with other parties to proceed on a fiscal program, to have the engineers make chemical tests of the proposed raw water intake site which hasn't been done yet, and make all of the above subject to reaching an agreement on fees to be paid the engineers if the city decides to back out at any given time.

Inquiring Gardener

Q. My pine trees are dying. Is this the pine bark beetle?
A. Pine bark beetles are the major pest of native pine trees in this area. The adult beetles are dark brown to black and no larger than a grain of rice. They can cause severe damage to the pines, ultimately resulting in the death of the trees.

Active pine bark beetles may be detected by examining the trunks of pine trees. If there are pitch tubes the beetles are active in the tree. Pitch tubes are an exudate of a moist, sticky, tan to reddish-white colored mixture of chewed-up pine bark and pine tree sap. If the bark is full of holes without fresh residue the beetles have moved on to other trees.

Merit Badges Awarded

Three new ranks and 11 merit badges were awarded at the June Court of Honor held by Boy Scout Troop 61 at the Everglades Presbyterian Church.

Scouts progressing to new ranks were Low Lare to Life, Mark Burkett to Star and Tommy Swager to Scout.

Kissimmee Rodeo to Begin July 4

Kissimmee-Rodeo thrills, a parade, country western music, and special animal acts—all will be part of Kissimmee's rodeo July 4-6, reports Mike Partin, Big Boss of the sponsoring Silver Spurs Club.

"We're expecting 200 or more professional cowboy and cowgirl entrants," Partin states.

The rodeo will be held for three days, with 8 p.m. performances Thursday and Friday, July 4 and 5, and an afternoon show on Saturday, July 6.

This will be the 54th Silver Spurs Rodeo, since the wartime first in a local cow pasture on July 4, 1944. Winter shows were added in 1952.

The rodeo events—bull riding, saddle and bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling and calf roping—feature the best of stork in excellent condition and owned or rented by the Spurs. Several of the rental horses and bulls have been used in national finals rodeos. In addition, for the cowgirls, there will be the barrel race. The Silver Spurs Quadrille, or square dance on horseback, is always popular and Sparky and Johnny Dent, nationally known, will provide the special acts. Sparky with the thrilling Roman ride and her son Johnny, with trick roping and trained Brahman. Father Charles Dent will be Arena Director.

A parade in Kissimmee is slated the morning of July 4th. Country western music will be in the skilled hands of the Goodtimers from Nashville, Tennessee, with once again an expert fiddler.

The stadium with 12,000 covered grandstand seats, all reserved, is located on U.S. 192-411 between Kissimmee and St. Cloud, near Turnpike Exit 65. Tickets are $2, $5, $8 and $5.

FOR MASONRY

Seals, protects and gives beautiful color to all masonry surfaces, such as brick, cement block, stucco and asbestos siding. DURAFLEX ACRYLIC HOUSE PAINT produces a "breathing" type film which allows moisture within the substrate to escape in the form of vapor while protecting the surface from water from the outside.

... AND WOOD

DURAFLEX ACRYLIC HOUSE PAINT flows on so easily to provide a blister-resistant low sheen finish for all wood siding, trim, shakes and paneling. It dries within an hour, greatly reducing the chances of dust or insects sticking to the surface. Whites stay white, colors stay bright, your home stays beautiful year after year.

Also available in WHITE A3-161-00 and BLACK A3-161-01. Hundreds of additional colors available in the Full-Color System.

News From The Home Front

The Belle Glade Herald, June 20, 1974 1B.

A rendering of the beautiful Harry Ann Hospital to be constructed at Unatilla by the Elks of Florida. The estimated cost of building, furnishing and equipment is $2,000,000.

Local Elks Raise Funds For Hospital

Belle Glade Elks Lodge #1716 president Leonard Case said this week the lodge's fund-raising drive has set a goal of raising $10,000 to help build a new Harry Ann Crippled Children's Hospital in Unatilla.

Case said the $10,000 is in addition to the lodge's normal contributions toward the operation of the hospital, which is funded solely by the Elks of Florida.

He said the goal represents approximately $40 per Elk across the state, which will be

At State Special Olympics Local Students Win Big

Students enrolled at the West Area Exceptional Education Center at Cove Elementary School brought home two first, four second and four third place prizes last weekend from the State Special Olympics in Gainesville.

The students participated in the county special olympics and the regional playoffs before going to the finals in Gainesville according to instructor Mrs. Mary Wall.

Mrs. Wall and her husband, Cary, carried 18 of the children to the olympics Friday, she said, and they spent the weekend housed in a dormitory at the University of Florida campus.

To win the prizes, the two had to beat out the best exceptional education athletes from all over the state.

Candidates also placed second in the 12-year-old boys softball throw.

In the standing long jump, Rhonda Heard and Joseph Simmons picked off third place prizes for the boys and girls.

Mrs. Wall said Community Action Migrant Program of Belle Glade furnished transportation for the children in form of a van.

She said 13-year-old Shirley Rowe was first place in the 50 yard dash and Charles Harrell was first place in the 12-year-old boys softball throw.

Mrs. Wall said Community Action Migrant Program of Belle Glade furnished transportation for the children in form of a van.

A Belle Glade man died and two Pahokee men were injured in this accident on US 441 in front of the old Belle Glade Livestock Market, now a flower market.

The accident occurred on Tuesday, June 18, at the intersection of US 441 and S. 7th St. in Belle Glade. The car, a 1973 Ford Mustang, was driven by William Collins Duke, 25, of Pahokee. Duke was killed. Two other people were injured: Charles Johnson, 69, also of Pahokee, and a passenger, Charlie Johnson, 69, also of Pahokee. They were released after minor injuries and were released to the General Hospital, Florida Highway Patrol Troopers Paul C. May and William M. Burroughs said Duke's truck left 85 feet of skid marks while Foster's car left totaled to the building price of $4 million.

While normal operating costs are covered by the local lodge, Case said the building fund is over and above those and the Elks have a plan to use as a fund-raising effort such as barbeques.

The Harry Ann Hospital was originally a hotel owned by Harry and Vera Miller who donated it to the Florida Elks Association to be used as a crippled children's hospital.

The Florida Elks have operated the hospital for 10 years and the building was constructed in 1971 and the Elks moved the hospital to its new building in 1973. Case said the Elks have, over the years, treated some 1,200 children at the hospital who's operations in orthopedic problems.

The annual operating budget is $800,000 and the Elks have already raised approximately $1 million toward construction of the new building but Case said the Elks' Grand Lodge is requiring the state association to raise the full $2 million before construction can begin.

Confrontation Kills One

He said the building in Unatilla expires Dec. 31 and we should start construction by then. We don't know if we'll be able to stay in the building after the lease expires or not.

Case stressed the fact the hospital's funds of all to operate Elks lodges in other parts of the state have been appealing to the public. Case said the local lodge had gone that far yet but donations would be accepted if members of the general public would like to help.

He said tax deductible contributions should be made payable to the Harry Ann Hospital Building Fund and may be mailed to the Belle Glade Elks Lodge #1716, P.O. Box 91, Belle Glade.

Social Educators Work in One Continuous Crisis

Some people work from crisis to crisis but one five-member team in the Glades is involved in one continuous crisis, but they're making their presence felt.

A newly-formed team of "social educators," according to Palm Beach County Migrant Child Education Coordinator Walter End, has substantially increased the attendance of migrant children enrolled in Glades schools.

Mrs. Susan Beuregard is the Community Involvement Specialist who organized and directed the team since its inception in January.

Mrs. Beuregard said the reaction to her team of workers from teachers could be summed up in the question posed by one teacher at the end of the school term, "Why weren't they around at the beginning of the year?"

The team members said their biggest task so far has been to get migrant students to attend class and they have removed any number of obstacles to get the kids to attend.

But Mrs. Beuregard said the social educators' jobs are two-fold, acting as social workers by talking parents of the children what services are available and as educators by clearing the path for children to attend school.

She said that although there was a similar program carried on last year on an experimental basis by Florida International University in Fort Lauderdale, this is the first time a team has been organized on a full-time basis by the county and it is one of the first such teams in the nation.

While Mrs. Beuregard wrote a general rationale and job description for their positions, she emphasized the social educators are in no position to "go by the book."

"They're writing the book as they go along," she said. She said the team members are learning as they go along.

One of the team members is Ralph Lopez, a migrant himself for the first 15 years of his life and who lived in the Glades for most of his life.

Lopez is particularly noticeable among the team members because he is the only male in the group and is as well as English.

Because he is bilingual, Lopez divides his time between the Glades, where the vast majority of the migrants are located, as well as the headquarters, and the south county area on the coast.

Lopez told of one family he had recently worked with, along with another team member which illustrates some of the problems the team faces.

He said the mother of the family, who normally worked alongside the father in the fields, became ill and he took his 14-year-old daughter out of school to take the mother's place.

At the same time, he took his 9-year-old daughter from school to watch the family's remaining daughter, a 3-year-old, and the mother.

There were agencies who could have helped," Lopez said, but the father didn't know about them. But the real problem is that he said he had never taken charity and he wouldn't take it now.

The man was a Mexican who had immigrated to the States," Lopez said, "and some of these people from the old country are really proud. They won't accept help. They'd rather make it on their own."

Lopez finally convinced the man he was breaking the law by holding his daughters out of school and that he was hurting their chances for a successful life.

But even though the social educator told the man about agencies who would help him, the man decided to work things out on his own.

West Area Administrator James

MRS. SUSAN BEUREGARD (SEATED) GOES OVER CENSUS MAP with team of Jacqueline Hughes, Evelyn Johnson, Frances Hill, Ralph Lopez.

Maynor agreed with Mrs. Beuregard both on the team's success and the reason for its success.

"Mrs. Beuregard is an excellent administrator," Maynor said, "and she's chosen a group of good workers. They're really being effective because they go directly into the homes of the students they're working with."

Going directly into the home is the primary thing the social educators do that's different from anything done previously to improve attendance and social educator Jacqueline Hughes gave an idea of how it works.

Mrs. Hughes said she had received one referral involving a 15-year-old junior high school level migrant student who had dropped out of school because he wanted, "to help out at home" with a job.

"We decided," she said, "that he needed a part time job. But then I found out he needed some clothes too and later on, we found out he needed extensive dental work."

She said she arranged for the boy to receive clothing from a newly funded clothing bank and the dental work is now being done.

"The dentist said he needed a complete set of plates," Mrs. Hughes said. "He has the teeth of a 60-year-old man. But the job here was finding the real reason the boy didn't want to go to school in the first place. All this took time."

Workers spend most of their time in the field, Mrs. Beuregard said, and most of their field time is spent in "students' homes."

"They're becoming highly visible in the migrant camps," Mrs. Beuregard said, "and they're really becoming effective. We expect to really see some improvements next year when we begin at the first of the year."

To help their effectiveness, the team has also been working on a program to find out where the revivals are to be found for the migrant education program's pre-scheduled program.

To accomplish this, the workers acted as a team to oversee five revivals who went through the areas and pointed out the areas in which families would have children ready for the program next school term.

While they were compiling information on the pre-scheduled program, the workers performed a selective census, gathering more information, a commodity migrant programs nationwide is short of.

Mrs. Beuregard said this may be the first such census in the country and she pointed out the team directed it while attending to its other duties.

"I took a friend along with me to one of the camps once," Lopez said, "and he was really amazed. He was from New York and the camp could have been on Mars. It was a strange to him."

Belle Glade," he said. "I don't know any more about how the migrants live than you do. One of the things I'd like to do is show these people they have an entirely different world right in their own back yard."

Karen's Korner

Some reporter I'll ever turn out to be.

The Belle Glade Men's Slow-Pitch Softball League began last Tuesday night at the Little League ball park. Since I was too busy Tuesday and Wednesday nights to make it out there to the games, it was first on my list for Thursday night—oops, better make that second. First I had to go to our team practice.

So taking a small potpourri and a pen, I hopped into my Green Machine and headed out to the field, getting there just in time for the first game to end. Even though it was too late to make down doubles and triples and all that stuff, nevertheless I did find out the score: O.J.'s -13, A. Duda & Sons-9.

Once the second game started I sauntered over to the official scorekeeper's bench to try to pick up anymore important facts or events I may have missed.

I wonder whoever made up that commercial about the Bic pen that it was first time, everytime, if he ever tried to use the pen as an ice pick and then try to write with it.

Anyway, I caught up on all the important incidents that had happened and also stayed to watch the outcome of this game, which had Glades Sugar pitted against Joyce Miller. It was the pretty coming at it because all the players were making so many mistakes they looked worse some women teams on their bad nights.

It was clear from the beginning that the score would be a fairly high one as most of the guys place hit the balls into the outfield. I don't know about anyone else, but after sitting on a hard bench for over an hour, you really begin to appreciate those nice, soft couches or chairs at home.

After seven seemingly endless innings I thought it was the end of the ball game, when to my way I found out it wasn't finished. The men play nine innings instead of seven innings, like the Women's League does. So I tried to settle down for another two innings of splinters, bugs and what have you.

Come to find out, at the end of nine innings the game was tied and they had to go into overtime. Finally, after an inning and half, Glades Sugar pushed two runs across the plate as a result of errors by the other team, to win the game.

After noting all this in my little green book I left. Friday night I was back again to cover the other softball games, but without my book. Seems I had misplaced it somewhere between my car and the bedroom. Anyhow, I tried to record the events in the back of my mind and I do remember that the American Dream (yes, that's the name of a team) lost to Peace, Cattle and Industrial Supply (yes, that's the name of another team) by two points.

The second game, which had Okeelanta Sugar against Remondito Sod, seemed to last longer than the one the night before, mainly because of all the arguing going on. Just about everything a play was made someone had an argument. Okay, I'm stretching the truth a bit, but they did argue a lot.

I don't know the final score of that game but I do remember that it was a close one. Remondito Sod. Frankly, I don't care because I was too tired of watching them argue.

I was all set this weekend to write a story about the men's softball games but I never was able to find my little green book so I decided to put in this column what all I could remember.

Quite a few home runs have been knocked over the fence. Freddie Clements hit one for Remondito Sod, Mark Crissman and Roger Dunaway also hit home runs. Sorry if I missed out on anyone, but those were the only ones I could remember.

Next week - a word about this year's women's softball games.

Softball Season Begins

SSSSMMMMAAAAOOCCCKWOMEN'S SOFTBALL...got underway Monday night at Little League field

KENDRA JONES STRAMS AROUND THIRD...it was in losing cause, Royals beat Glades Sugar

The Women's Slow-Pitch Softball League started its season last Monday night with the first game finding Glades Sugar House opposite Royals.

Although the players had a hard time fielding the ball in the mud caused by the shower which happened earlier, it didn't stop their batting prowess as Kendra Jones scored nine runs in the third and three in the fourth inning to total 12. After a scoreless third inning, the Glades Sugar players made eight runs in the next two innings to tie the score at 12-12.

Stretching the lead a bit, the Royals then added two more runs and only one in the top of the sixth inning to win the game 14-12.

The game was then called because of the time limit. The second game found Wallis Pharmacy against Bashley's Dry Cleaners. Starting off strong, the Bashley women scored five runs before Wallis could make the third out of them.

Red Cross Gives Advice

With the school year over, or almost completed, in South Florida, the American Red Cross has some safety advice on swimming pool procedures.

Palm Beach County Chapter officials estimate that thousands of children will be using home pools or those at motels and clubs this summer.

Obviously, the initial safety measure is knowing how to swim, and the Red Cross Chapter throughout the year gives swimming lessons under the supervision of qualified water safety instructors.

In addition, parents who swim are welcome to obtain a manual, "Teaching Johnny to Swim," at the Red Cross Chapter, 825 Fern Street, West Palm Beach.

Other home pool safety tips from the Red Cross: Install a safety post, four feet high, to hold simple equipment for quick rescue of persons in danger. The post should include a long pole for reaching to the victim, a heaving line and emergency telephone numbers.

Prohibit the use of TV sets, record players, and radios, or other electrical gadgets, at the poolside.

Never permit swimming alone and never allow a child alone near the pool, even for a few seconds.

Allow no running, pushing or boisterous play around the pool.

Keep the poolside area clear of bottles, glasses and other sharp objects.

Maintain clean, clear water.

Do not permit anyone to swim when overcast or during electrical storms.

Do not allow diving in unsafe depths.

Learn proper rescue techniques for victims of diving injuries and have a backboard available for transportation of such victims.

Enclose the pool with a fence and gate, with a lock, to prevent unauthorized use.

Use a buoyed line to separate shallow and deep water areas and keep non-swimmers in the shallow area.

"Eternal vigilance is the Price of Liberty"

★★★★ Wendell Phillips 1852 ★★★★★

WHAT DOES THE FUTURE HOLD?

All of us at times wonder what the future holds for us as individuals. Some of us assume these speculations that can "tell" our future in a crystal ball. Others of us will have our future read or have the future forecasted from a deck of cards. Yet others try to plan their lives according to the planetary movements. Just how valid any of these methods are is open to debate. But one thing is sure, the idea of "fate" into the future speaks to about everyone.

But what does the future hold for us as a nation? Many of us assume that because we have never been a strong nation, we are now a strong nation and will continue to be a strong nation, regardless of what we do or do not do. Individually, strong nations have, however, defined their identity or have been overthrown by other nations, as we cannot count on our strength as some quality or condition upon which nations are made up of individuals. And the quality of that nation is as strong or as weak as the combined quality of its citizens.

Potential to get an indication of what the future holds for our nation we should all have one mirror rather than a crystal ball.

Couple Wed May 24

Miss Tina Gay Swain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Swain of 725 S. E. First St., was married to Ronald Frederick Lottes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Lottes, Sr. at 124 S. E. Fifth St. May 24 at Community United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Randall Parsons, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony and bride was given in marriage by her father.

H. R. "Ray" Lottes, the bridegroom's brother, was the best man and Mrs. J. M. Williams of Kaneohe, Hawaii, served her sister as the matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. H. R. Lottes, Jr., the groom's sister-in-law and Miss Melodie Farnsworth. The ushers were Sgt. James M. Williams of Kaneohe, Hawaii and Bryan Cross of Belle Glade.

Mrs. Gordon Corbin of Belle Glade was the organist and Milton O. Carpenter was the soloist, singing, "Whither Thou Goest," "Two Shall Be One" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a French-design gown created by Dr. Jany Marlene of Jany Atelier in Miami. The gown was made of Swiss embroidered organza applied with embroidered flowers of the same material adorning the entire gown and train.

It featured a high neck and long sleeves with boot collar and cuffs. The imperial line skirt with a ten-foot cathedral train was bordered by a wide white ruffle.

The bride's tiara was made from the same material as the gown and had six tiers of tulle with cascading in descending sequence with one long veil that formed a second train the full length of the gown.

Miss Swain carried a cascade of white roses, frothed carnations and four white cattleya orchids, pearl leaves and ropes.

The matron of honor wore a full white nylon organza gown with Venetian lace and contrasting ribbon and gloves. Her spring hat was red with white nylon organza flowers to match her gown. She carried a large wicker fireside basket of red carnations and lilies.

The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of full flowing Caribbean red nylon organza with Venetian lace and contrasting ribbon, white spring hats with flowers made from the same material as the gowns.

They carried large wicker baskets of carnations and lilies. The bride's mother selected a brass-orchid to wear on her A-line gown of turquoise silk and long sleeves and bodice of Chantilly lace. The back also featured a floor length lace overlay.

The groom's mother wore a long-sleeved white chiffon gown with splashes of blue and carrying a hand corsage of baby blue orchids.

Each of the mothers were escorted to a unity candle, where she lit one candle symbolizing the life of her offspring. The couple later lit one other candle from these two symbolizing the joining of their lives.

A reception in the church parlor followed the ceremony. The three-tiered wedding cake was surrounded by four individual cakes extended outward on pedestals. The cake was topped with a china bride and groom sitting in a gazebo.

Helping at the reception were Mrs. Alvaro Sanchez, Jr., Mrs. Jerry McKee Sr., Mrs. Louise Kirkman, Mrs. Rodolfo Parrado Jr., Dorothy Graber and Lois Moss.

Out-of-town guests were present from Detroit, Mich., Pittsburg, Pa., Tucson, Ga., Clearwater, West Palm Beach and Lantana.

As her going away outfit, the bride wore a two-piece suit of a navy blue jacket over a white shirt. She wore a white cattleya orchid corsage.

The couple visited Disney World and other points of interest in Florida on their honeymoon and are now making their home in Tucson, Ga. where the groom is engaged in business with his grandfather in the accounting field and the bride is pursuing her career in cosmetology.

People who live up North know the value of good home insulation. How it keeps the cold out, the warm in and the heating bills down. But, what many people who live down here don't realize, is that the cost of the insulation is a fraction of the cost of the heating bills.

home insulation can help keep the heat out, the cool in and the air conditioning bills down.

Six inches of ceiling insulation alone can make a substantial difference in your electric bill. Enough to cover the cost of the insulation in a season or two. And any local insulation contractor will be happy to tell you how and how much.

Local your home insulation soon. And this summer, the temperature won't be the only thing you keep down.

Insulation. Believe it or not, you need it as much down here as they do up there.

Bogart-Jones

Wed in Ceremony

Miss Patricia Colleen Jones and Mark Jay Bogart were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony officiated over by Dr. Richard Williams at Christ Community Church in Tampa.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jones of 555 S. E. Fifth St. and Mr. and Mrs. Mark J. Bogart of Indian Harbour Beach. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Green Willis of Big Springs, Tex., was the best man and Sally Lewis of Plano, Tex., served her sister as matron of honor.

Ushers were Lawrence Davis and Robin Eckhardt of 3-year old Allison Lewis, daughter of the matron of honor and niece of the bride, of Plano, Tex.

The church altar was decorated with potted palms and altar baskets of gold and white daisies, orange mums and yellow carnations.

Mrs. M. Devesee was the organist and nuptial music included "Liebeslied" by Liszt, the processional was "Trumpet Tune" by Purcell and the recessional was "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desire" by Bach.

The bride wore a feminine, long-sleeved gown with a fitted bodice, high neckline and fitted long sleeves enhanced by Venetian lace and satin ribbon. A natural waist fell into a full, sweeping skirt and ruffled hem.

She wore a matching cap and full fingertip illusion veil and carried a column bouquet of ice roses, carnations, daisies, baby's breath and fern.

The matron of honor wore a floor length orange check gingham dress with an empire waist, caplet sleeves and ruffled hem trimmed with red-toned modillon lace.

"She wore a white picture hat with streamers and bow of orange and white check and carried a cascade of yellow carnations, orange mums, white daisies and fern.

The flower girl wore a replica of her mother's (the matron of honor's) dress in a smaller orange and white pin check.

She carried a white basket with orange bow and strewed rose petals as she went down the aisle. She wore a picture hat with bow and streamers that matched her dress.

A reception was held later at the church with Diana Hickman, Nancy Bogart (the groom's sister), Priscilla Rogers and Linda Talley, Anna Jo McAllister regaled the guests.

The bride's colors of orange and white were carried out in table floral decorations. The wedding cake was three-tiered and was topped with miniature bride and groom. The table was covered with cutwork linen cloth made by the bride's neighbor, Mrs. J. A. Pereira.

The bride's mother wore a floor length turquoise blue crepe trimmed with pearls and a white carnation corsage.

The groom's mother wore a green knee-length double knit gown and wore a white and green carnation corsage.

Terry Jones, brother of the bride, who was just discharged from the Air Force and Harry Bogart, the groom's brother, will be in the Air Force. Both came from San Antonio, Tex. Others present came from Dallas, Tex., Orlando, Indian Harbour, Winter Haven and Belle Glade.

The bride wore a yellow sport outfit with a white daisy corsage on her wedding trip to Sarasota and the couple now makes its home in Tampa.

The bride is a former resident of Belle Glade and will be a senior at the University of South Florida this fall where she is majoring in nursing. The bridegroom is a former resident of Belle Glade, Fla., and is a graduate of the University of South Florida where he majored in distributive education.

Insurance Corner

By Milton Carpenter

Dogs, Kids, Boats, and Injuries

Liability insurance carried by a family under a homeowner's policy covers a wide range of possible accidents.

For example, a boy may injure someone while riding his bicycle. A family dog may bite a visitor. A salesman may fall on the front steps. A power mower may slice a neck which injures a neighbor.

If you carry liability insurance, a claim filed against you will be defended by the insurance company which will supply attorneys and pay court costs. However, it will pay only up to the maximum amount of coverage of the policy. This is normally a minimum of $25,000 in the standard homeowner's policy.

Although most court awards are below $25,000, settlements have been growing larger in recent years (50 percent increase in the past 10 years). For a very small amount, this coverage could be increased to $100,000.

Couple United in Marriage

GARY O'NEAL WALKER WEDS MARY CLARK
in Atlanta "rainy-style" ceremony in Atlanta rites

Miss Mary McKay Clark of Joplin, Mo., was married to Gary O'Neal Walker, a former South Bay resident, May 4 in Walker's Atlanta home with Bishop Gerald Day of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints officiating.

Miss Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Clark of Joplin, Mo., and Walker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal Walker of South Bay.

The groom's father was his best man and the mother of the bride, presided at the ceremony.

Music for the double-ring ceremony was taped. Two selections were rendered by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Bobe Givens, of Palm Springs, Cal., who could not attend.

Other music was selected by Mrs. Leonard C. Hardin of Atlanta.

A post-wedding feast followed the ceremony, prepared by the groom's mother and sister, Mrs. J. R. Littlefield of Miami.

Mrs. Melvin Reid of Tampa and Mrs. Lee Nyehk of Salt Lake City, Utah.

The feast was later described as more like a family reunion than a wedding, with the couple visiting with family and friends for four hours before leaving on their honeymoon.

The crowd ate baked ham, turkey, pole beans, crowder peas, fruit salad, potato salad, stuffed celery, corned beef, tossed salad, sweet corn, soup, gravy and punch.

Mrs. Lee O'Neal cut the cake and Mrs. Thomas McFarland, a former roommate of the bride, presided at the punchbowl.

The wedding party sang "Whisper Thou Guest" and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" as the couple left for their honeymoon on St. George's Island, a deserted island off the west coast of Florida.

Guests included the bride's parents and grandparents.

Mrs. Char. Hoven of Tampa and Ivan Noll, Michael Shiver, Keith Padgett, Richard VanLandingham, Ray Sullivan Jr., Mrs. and Mrs. Ray Sullivan and Mrs. Keith Padgett, all of the Glades.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Georgia Tech University.

The groom is a 1968 graduate of Belle Glade High School and 1970 graduate of the University of Florida, where he took a degree in business and industrial management. He is now in his last year of law school at the Atlanta School of Law.

JO ELLA GIBBS MARRIES CAPTAIN RICHARD EDWARD BARRETT in Gainesville, Tex., ceremony before couple leaves for Germany to finish tour.

Barrett-Gibbs United

Miss Jo Ella Gibbs of Gainesville, Tex., and Capt. Richard Edward Barrett, formerly of Belle Glade, were married May 25 during services they had written at the Grand Avenue Baptist Church in Gainesville.

Parsons of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Gibbs of Gainesville, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Barrett of 172 N. E. First St. of Belle Glade.

Officiating at the ceremony were the Rev. Leroy Martin, pastor, and the Rev. N. N. Augustine of the Trinity Baptist Church in Lawton, Okla.

Playing "Trumpet Tune 1, D. Major" and "Aldente" was the First Baptist Church Band led by Chas.

Commander Fern, Spiral rambler and yellow snapdragons decorated the altar of the church. Banks of the fern adorned the windows and sides were marked with English ivy and white bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peach de sole, silk organza and Alençon lace. The gown featured a high neckline and a midlength over the dress which formed a train. Her hair was caught in a band of Alençon lace and seed pearls, from which a chapel-length veil of French illusion net fell.

She carried a white embroidered linen handkerchief of belonging to her maternal grandmother and wore a gold wedding band belonging to her paternal grandmother. The gold locket she wore belonged to her mother. She also carried a bouquet of white gladioli, carnations and English ivy.

Miss Sharon Gibbs of Denton, Tex., was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a yellow silk tulle dress with long sleeves, stand-up collar and open neckline. She carried a nosegay of milium, lily and English ivy.

Best man was Dr. Ralph M. Hennessey, U.S. Army major, from Kansas City, Mo., who is a cousin of the bride.

Ushers were Capt. Robert W. Brown and Capt. Steve Dennis of Ft. Sill, Okla.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the ceremony.

Serving cake were Kay Greene of Fort Worth and Kay Simmons of Dallas. Presiding over the lighted silver punch fountain was Debbie Althoff of Fort Worth. Horita Simmons of Fort Worth served coffee from a silver service.

Mrs. Rick Erther registered guests.

For the wedding trip to Europe, the bride changed into a beige knit ensemble with heavy plaid jacket. The couple plans to reside in Aachen, Germany, where the bridegroom is stationed.

The bride is a graduate of Gainesville High School and attended the University of Texas at Arlington, Tex., and completed her junior year at Cameron State College in Lawton, Okla.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Belle Glade High School and the University of Tampa.

Out-of-town guests included Ivy Lou Barrett, the groom's sister, of Delray Beach.

Other guests were present from Dallas, Tex., Midland, Tex., Lawton, Okla., Denton, Tex., Fort Arthur, Tex., Valley View, Tex., Fort Worth, Tex., Kansas City, Mo., Stillwater, Okla., Grand Prairie, Tex., Arlington, Tex., Houston, Tex., Paul Valley, Okla., Beaumont, Tex., and Fort Sul, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Barrett hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday in the home of the bride's parents.
